

Acoustics

Acoustics is the study of sound waves and how they are soaked up (absorbed) or bounced off (reflected)

Geomagnetism

Geomagnetism is the name given to the magnetism of the earth.

Ecologist

An Ecologist is a person who studies why plants and animals live in some places and not in other places.

Implosion

An implosion occurs when a vessel collapses inward.

Asepsis

Asepsis is the condition where there is a complete absence of bacteria or other germs.