

Name: _____

The Flood in Hamburg

In 1962 there was a big flood along the North Sea coast. The dykes broke and the river Elbe rose very high and land along the river flooded. The Elbe River flows through Hamburg, a city in Germany. Hamburg had a flood and 281 people died. There were 500.000 people left without a home.

When was the flood? _____

What are dykes? _____

How many people died? _____

When the people drowned
they would have shouted
'Hilfe'

What do you think 'Hilfe' means?

Draw someone drowning and shouting, Hilfe!

Find on a map where the Elbe River flows into the North Sea.

If you have found it tick this box

☐

Germany is 'Deutschland' in German.

In Deutschland they speak Deutsch (German).

Colour the flag of 'Deutschland' correctly.