

Name: _____

otters and butterflies

What have otters and butterflies in common?

Nothing much you might say. Well, someone reckons otters and butterflies are pretty good, in fact so good they have made a web site about them.

Do you know what a web site is? If you do, write in the box what you think a web site is.

In the UK some people put together lots of goodies for you to see and do about otters and butterflies. Do you know what the letters UK stand for? They stand for a country. Do you know which country? Write your answer here.

Go and check out the following web site and have a bash at some of the activities there.
