

Name _____

Adverbs are words used generally to modify (tell you more about) a verb, but can tell you more about any word other than a noun or pronoun.

Example: The bird flew quickly.

The word 'quickly' is an adverb.

Underline the adverbs in each sentence.

1. The bird came sooner than we thought.
2. Come quickly to the park. The birds are here.
3. We will come shortly.
4. The birds appeared briefly. They are gone now.
5. They were rather pretty, don't you think?
6. Move quickly before the birds see us.
7. He's rather big for his size.
8. He's very jolly; she is not.
9. The rare birds will soon be here.
10. That statement could be questionably wrong.
11. The bird cage is rather clean.
12. The birds are very slow but they came sooner than I thought.
