

Name _____

Discuss how worms
are beneficial for the environment.

EARTHWORMS

Did you know that there are approximately 2,700 different kinds of earthworms? Worms are decomposers; this means that they break down rotting or decaying matter such as food scraps and plant material. Help the worms find their way through the maze to the decaying matter.

Circle the correct answer:

An earthworm has no arms, legs or eyes

True / False

Earthworms live in buildings

True / False

Earthworms are cold-blooded animals

True / False

Earthworms are mammals

True / False